BIOGRAPHY

Born in the winter of 1986 in Greater Southeast Hospital in Washington, D.C., Stefan Byrd records under the mononym of long-time nickname Step. He is a recording artist, producer, and audio engineer out of Oxon Hill/ Temple Hills, Maryland. Originally, he became known as one of the lead members of a Metro DC Rap group known as Goon Squad/District Kings. Due to personal differences amongst the group, Step decided to pursue his solo career.

Step first began writing lyrics in early high school, and by late 2004 /early 2005 he was recording music alongside three friends making up the Goon Squad. In 2006, after the passing of their great friend Theodore "Teddy" Durbin, the Goon Squad released their debut street album The Lessons of Life. Shortly after, one friend disbanded from the group leaving just three members including Step. In 2007, the three member group released their street mixtape The District Kings Volume I. At 22, Step had a legal setback; however, shortly after in 2009, he teamed with the Goon Squad to re-release the Lessons of Life with bonus tracks. Both the re-release and mixtape earned the group Artist of the Month for www.LifeAtWar.net July 2009 issue.

Currently, Step works as an audio engineer with Studio Blueroom, steadily writing lyrics, and is working towards the success of his debut solo album entitled Days of Reality.
